The Telegraph and the Times of India have published profiles on the 71-year-old Slovakian poet, Juraj Cintula, who tried to assassinate Slovak Prime Minister, Robert Fico. The following is from the Telegraph report:

Juraj Cintula, a 71-year-old poet from the western town of Levice, posted online rants against Mr Fico before opening fire on the Left-wing nationalist at close range on Wednesday.

A photo of the writer published on X, formerly Twitter, showed him protesting against the government's controversial reforms...

[Fico] is viewed as one of the EU's most pro-Russian leaders after campaigning on a platform to end weapons donations to Ukraine.

In a post for the Movement Against Violence in 2022, Mr Cintula condemned Russia's invasion of Ukraine. "What Slavic brotherhood?" he wrote, referring to Kremlin claims that Ukraine and Russia could be joined as they were essentially the same country. "He is only the aggressor and the attacked."

A friend from Levice told Markiza TV that the pair had debates about politics, saying: "I'm more for Russia. He had different opinions."

In 2015, Mr Cintula founded the campaign group Against Violence and sought to get it officially registered in Slovakia. "Violence is often a reaction of people, as a form of expression of ordinary dissatisfaction with the state of affairs. Let's be dissatisfied, but not violent," a petition circulated by him said.

...Unverified video footage emerged on Wednesday of Mr Cintula saying he did not agree with Mr Fico's "government policy". In another social media post, he criticised the Fico government for not cracking down on gambling.

The suspect's political leanings appear to have shifted over time. He was once pro-Russian, and railed against "eyeless gypsies" and migrants before shooting the populist prime minister, who is fiercely anti-migrant.

I was surprised by how quickly the Slovak interior minister, Matus Sutaj Estok, characterized Cintula as "a lone wolf" who "did not belong to any political groups."

It seems to me that no apparent political group affiliation does not necessarily mean that Cintula was not influenced or directed by someone else. Cintula's online political rants in which he expressed strong emotions and shifting opinions could have flagged him as man who could be approached and influenced by an agent serving powerful interests. In this hypothetical scenario, Cintula may have fallen under the influence of an agent who presented himself under false pretenses.

Like many other reasonable people, I noticed that Prime Minister Fico has vocally criticized COVID-19 vaccines, endless shipments of weapons to Ukraine, mass immigration, transgender ideology, and climate change ideology. This makes him one of the few heads of state in Europe who has challenged all four articles of faith in what I call the Holy Quadripartitus of Piffle.

- 1). COVID-19 vaccines are saving mankind. Anyone who questions the safety and efficacy of the vaccines is guilty of heresy.
- 2). The U.S. proxy war in Ukraine is a sacred mission and no negotiated settlement with Russia shall be countenanced. Anyone who criticizes the Ukrainian and U.S. governments, and any attempt to understand the war from the Russian point of view, is guilty of heresy.
- 3). Human induced climate change will soon destroy the earth if trillions aren't spent to overhaul our entire energy policy. Anyone who questions this proposition is guilty of heresy.
- 4). The concept of biological sex is a mere "construct." Skilled surgeons and endocrinologists can transform a boy into a girl or vice versa. Anyone who questions this assertion is guilty of heresy.

Given the fervent belief in the Holy Quadripartitus—the Nicene Creed of the vaccine cartel, arms dealers, money launderers, lobbyists, racketeers, and child butchers—it is a matter of certainty that Prime Minister Fico has a vast array of powerful enemies.

This was a planned execution, because Fico was critical of and opposed the WHO treaty, Pharma and covid mRNA products, stating, "One study after another confirms the scandalous consequences of mass vaccination with untested experimental vaccines."

Global oligarchs and their tools at the WEF, UN, WHO, EU, US Democrat party and global banks are playing hardball.

As their agendas are being exposed, and as opposition to them grows stronger every day, they're taking bolder and bolder measures to block free speech and truthful information, and attack and destroy anyone who opposes them. They aren't even pretending anymore.

The criminal underbelly of old europe is a tenaciously wicked and evil thing. The shadows of its tentacles can be seen in the syndicate criminality now infiltrating the WHO and its plans for global racketeering and syndicate monopoly disguised as health management.

There is little doubt some enabling agency has recruited and guided the shooter to participate in the assassination as a designated trigger puller. The trick is putting the shooter in a position to effectively pull that trigger amidst all the defensive protections and cryptic defensive logistics already in place to protect a senior member of state.

There is way more to an event like this than "just show up and go "boom".

A willing wolf, perhaps. A lone wolf? No way.

He was a Known Wolf, and willing to play his part in an assassination planned by others.
